CLOSE RANKS.

THIS is the crisis of the world. For all the long years to come men will point to the year 1918 as the great Day of Decision, the day when the world decided whether it would submit to military despotism and an endless armed peace—if peace it could be called—or whether they would put down the menace of German militarism and inaugurate the United States of the World.

We of the colored race have no ordinary interest in the outcome. That which the German power represents today spells death to the aspirations of Negroes and all darker races for equality, freedom and democracy. Let us not hesitate. Let us, while this war lasts, forget our special grievances and close our ranks shoulder to shoulder with our own white fellow citizens and the allied nations that are fighting for democracy. We make no ordinary sacrifice, but we make it gladly and willingly with our eyes lifted to the hills.

WAR SAVING STAMPS.

ACORRESPONDENT writes us: "Has there been put in operation any effective machinery for bringing our twelve million colored citizens, especially those living in the Southern States, into this great national movement for Thrift and Economy, represented by the War Savings Stamp movement? This movement is to have a profound effect on the character of the American people; millions of prodigal, shiftless Americans are going to learn their first lessons in Thrift and Economy through buying Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps. It is obvious that our colored citizens should share to the full the benefits as well as the responsibilities of the movement.

"It is a voluntary effort. Thousands of voluntary committees are working to inculcate the lessons of Thrift and inspire voluntary purchase of stamps."

We are glad to say that such a movement has been begun. Various organizations are taking hold and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will use its more than 30,000 members in 108 branches to push this splendid movement.

Remember, June twenty-eighth is National War Savings Day!

THE COMMON SCHOOL.

MUCH mist and misunderstanding has been consciously and unconsciously put in the colored public mind by recent discussions of the schools. We colored people must, however, keep one thing clearly before us: the first four years' of a child's life, no matter what his race or condition, must be devoted by every modern country which wishes to survive and grow to a very simple program of study: (1) The child must learn to read so as to be able easily to understand what men have written; (2) the child must learn to write so as to be able to communicate with his fellow men; (3) the child must learn to count so as to be able to handle the extraordinary multiplicity of the world's things. To read, to write, to cipher—this is the program and the only program of the first four years of a child's school life. The neglect to do this work then means, in practically all cases, the fatal crippling of the child. This program of study is a matter of technique and difficult technique. It must be learned early and thoroughly or it may not be learned at all. It must be carefully drilled in and be made second nature to the child.

Whenever any person, country or age seeks to substitute for this work anything else, they are either themselves deceived or deliberately deceiving. Other things may appear in the program of the primary school but they are simply subsidiary to the main program and designed to make the main program more easily acquired. Play, for instance, is there as a matter of health and recreation; moral habits are always to be indirectly acquired in home and in school, but the technical business of the primary school is to teach the child to read, to write and to cipher.

No vocational training has any place in a primary school. Any attempt to turn the primary school into a place for teaching trades or teaching agriculture or teaching housework as such is absolutely wrong and should be fought bitterly by every advocate of democracy and human uplift. This does not mean that for recreation or as discipline little children may not sew and wash dishes and cultivate school gardens, but this work must not be vocational—it must be simply a means of interesting the child in this main work of learning to read, to write and to cipher.

The next four years of grammar grades are also mainly the carrying out of the work of the first four years, teaching the child to read for information as well as exercise; to write for self-expression as well as for mere communication; and to reason more clearly with mathematical correctness. It may be necessary at some times and places that a child from ten to fourteen be compelled to take some vocational work for self-support, but no country as rich as the United States or as enlightened can afford to make this necessary. It is becoming more and more fixed in our national thought that it is the business of a nation to educate a child up to fourteen years, that is through the grammar grades; and in addition to the three R's and the geography, history and language study that go with them we should add nothing to the curriculum which is not primarily for the helping of these students in this main work either directly or indirectly through inciting interest and correct habits of health and application.

After fourteen there comes an entirely different question—whether the child is to be trained directly for self-supporting work, as most children should be, or whether his talents are sufficient for him to be trained to greater service by longer methods of education.

NATIONAL AID.

HE nation will face after this war a tremendous and righteous demand for national aid to common school training.

We must no longer allow our educational system to be a thing of shreds and patches and especially so far as colored people are concerned we must get rid of the menace of ignorance. Colored children under fourteen years must have good schools to which they can go and are compelled to go. Anything less than this is unworthy of the Land and the Day.

On the boards which control the administration of funds for the colored public schools the colored race must be represented. They must have a voice in their own education.

PHILANTHROPY.

THE Negro race in America owes a mighty debt, first, to that army of teachers that followed the emancipating hosts of the Civil War and taught the colored people until they were able in a measure to teach themselves; secondly, to the many millions of people, some rich and some poor, who now for a half-century have been giving monies to support Negro education. It is not strange that the time is approaching and practically is upon us when the stream of financial help from this source is beginning to cease. We must frankly face the prospect that after the war when new calls for help and rehabilitation pour in from all sides and ask aid and succor from an impoverished world that the flow of Northern wealth to Southern colored schools will definitely diminish.

This is natural. No system of higher education for twelve million people can expect to be supported indefinitely by charity. If turning from individual donors we look to the great educational boards, foundations and endowments there is little to hope for. For the most part these foundations are either such as are hard-pressed for funds, as in the case of the church boards, or have ideas with regard to the education of Negroes with which thinking Negroes do not agree.

What, then, is the future of higher education among Negroes to be? Three universities, Howard, Fisk and Lincoln, are probably upon an assured basis; the last two by reason of small endowments, the first because the Negro vote in the United States will probably insure continued appropriations by Congress. Three universities, however, are ridiculously inadequate. We may then turn to those colleges under the control of the various denominational boards.—The Congregationalists can, if they wish, use enough of their endowment funds to support Talladega and Straight as higher institutions, and they may do so. The colored constituency of the Methodist Episcopal Church will probably compel the maintenance at a fair state of efficiency of some schools like Claflin, Bennett and Clark. The Baptists are in a more debatable condition. Their Negro constituency has for the most part withdrawn to itself and is supporting its own schools, leaving the white Baptists with a small Negro constituency to support schools like Morehouse, Shaw and Virginia Union.

SELF-HELP.

NEGRO universities and schools of higher training have got to be supported by Negroes or, for the most part, they will not be supported at all. If we black folk want college training for our children, we have got to furnish it out of our own pockets. This is a harsh conclusion and in many respects an unfair burden. If men were wise and if sociology were a science, it would be easy for Negroes to show the people of the United States that the safest and greatest investment that this country could make of a thousand millions of dollars during the next decade would be the establishment of a series of Negro universities and higher technical schools throughout the United States. But the nation does not see it and it will not see it for one hundred years. Human beings today have been educated to the point where they recognize the need of philanthropy for the hungry, the cripple, the grossly ignorant. Many have been educated also to see the just demand of philanthropy for the diseased, the weak and the half-trained. Beyond this, however, it is difficulty to get philanthropy to go. Thorough education and higher training still seem to most people a luxury and an indulgence and we must recognize these facts. We ourselves, however, know that if the Negro is to survive in this world as a man of thought and power, a co-worker with the leading races in civilization, a free, independent citizen of a modern democracy, then the foundations for this future must be laid in the Negro university. This much we know, but hitherto we have not realized that we have got to pay the bill for this education.

AWAKE, PUT ON THY STRENGTH, O ZION.

WE can support our own universities. We must do it. One little school in Virginia, supported simply by poor Negro Baptists, refused the help of philanthropists, paid back with interest the money that had been given to it, bought its own land and put up its own buildings, hired its own teachers and last year gave $25,000 cash to run the institution. The Virginia Theological Seminary and College is not a perfect institution. It does not meet the approval of all educators, but it does meet the approval of every independent, right-thinking colored man who believes that the day of passing the hat for Negro education is nearing a close and who is thanking God for it.

DETERMINATION

REMEMBER the word of Robert Browning, the great poet who shared faintly our own dark blood, how he wrote in "Asolando" of "One who never turned his back but marched breast forward,
 "Never doubted clouds would break,
 "Never dreamed, though right were worsted, wrong would triumph,
 "Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better,
 Sleep to wake!"

EDUCATION

A Brief Confession of Faith

By JAMES H. DILLARD

President of the Slater and Jeanes Funds

I HAVE frequently said: I do not believe in industrial education. I do not believe in academic education. I believe in education. The question how we are to get education has, in my opinion, no definite answer. Three of the best educated men I have ever known went to school but two or three years in their lives. Yet they knew how to use their minds, they had high vision and broad vision, and they loved art and good literature. Looking back over my own experience I find that the place to which I look with most gratitude for what help in education I received was a one-room school; but there was a great-minded man in that one-room school. He was one of two men whom I have ever met who could really read Latin and Greek. He knew the whole range of history, and he took us boys into his confidence. So it comes from my experience that I would have for answer to the question, how to get education, only this: yourself, wanting to learn; and a real man, wanting to teach. It is the old answer of Mark Hopkins on one end of the log and you at the other. What Dr. DuBois said about Spence at Fisk tells the same story. All our modern expensive equipment, so far as real education goes, is as nothing in comparison.

As things go, I think it is well for us to have both book teaching and thing teaching, and for real education I value the latter very largely because of its reaction upon the former. I can see that when I was a boy at school I did not think back of the words to the facts or things represented by the words. I can sympathize fully with the boy to whom China was yellow because the map was yellow, and Russia pink because the map was pink. I did not connect even mensuration in Arithmetic with actual things, although the words named the things. I should have been shocked if told to get on the floor and actually measure it. It seems to me that dealing with things, doing things with hands, has a tendency to correct this danger of having the mind stop with the words and fail to project the thought to what the words mean.

There is, of course, an educational value in knowing how to do things, whether it be to make a table or a biscuit, or to raise cabbage. There certainly is an educational value in such work if the instructor insist that the table sit steady, that the biscuit be a good one, and the cabbage-planting be done just right. Accuracy is one of the marks of an educated man. But in my own mind I confess that the material benefit of what is called industrial education comes second. It is education that we want, because the educated mind can set itself and its body to whatever is needed to be done.

I can never think of education as depending on grades, high or low. I am sure that I got more of what seems to me to be education from the one-room school than I got from my course in college. And yet for the sake of knowledge we have the grades from the primary to university, and I am sure that we should neglect none. I think moreover that every boy and girl should have a chance at all of them if he or she can be benefited thereby. Knowing, however, the inevitable fact that the great majority for a long time to come are to be in the so-called lower grades of education, I am sure that relatively much more money should be spent than at present on these lower grades. Even for the sake of the colleges this should be. The newly inaugurated Governor of Virginia says, "We must build from the bottom up," and I venture to hope that a majority of Virginians will agree with him. Certain it is that many now think that Thomas Jefferson made a mistake when he gave most of his thought and enthusiasm to the top part first. I know all the arguments about having teachers and leaders and all that. It is a question of emphasis and proportion, and we need not fly to either extreme.

Permit me to say in this connection that in making recommendations to the Slater Board, my aim has been to have one-third of the income go to what is called higher education. This is relatively a high amount, but under the circumstances I do not think too high. It might be wiser in consideration of the smallness of the actual amount to divide this among fewer institutions than fifteen or twenty as has usually been done. There is a general recognition of the need of at least half a dozen genuine colleges in the South for colored students, and gifts should probably go in this direction.

I do not want this digression to take our minds away from the actual thought of this brief paper, which is, that what we need is education, rather than any particular kind or grade. Some day perhaps another Socrates, or Froebel, or Rousseau may tell us some surer way of going for the thing. At present we know nothing beyond the fact, which is certainly sure as far as it goes, that the necessary factor is the educated and consecrated personality of the teacher. We are in great danger in America of thinking too highly of machinery and system. The process of machinery and system, however efficiently we may use the machinery and apply the system, may be called education—but is it? It surely is not, unless it carries with it the idea that its main concern is not the fine machinery or the perfect system. It must know that the real thing is the personal contact and individual instruction, through which the child or youth learns to use his powers, and comes to find, in the best use of these powers which God has given him, be they great or small, the value and meaning of life.

It may be well to emphasize the fact that in using the word education I have not meant knowledge, either general or technical. The two words have naturally been confused, because, of course, in getting knowledge there is likely to be some acquirement of education, and in getting education there is sure to be some acquirement of knowledge. So it happens that in practice we merge the two. I doubt if a satisfactory definition of education can be given. I came as near as I could when in speaking of three educated men, I said that "they knew how to use their minds, they had high vision and broad vision, and they loved art and good literature." And again when I said, "learns to use his powers, and comes to find, in the best use of these powers which God has given him, be they great or small, the value and meaning of life." In other words we may put it this way: In each of us there is a real self, and education is the process of leading forth this real self into the free play of good desires and true uses. Or more simply, perhaps we may say that the educated man is one who has a liberal and generous mind and is capable and desirous of leading a useful life.

THE YEAR IN NEGRO EDUCATION

THE war has made serious inroads on Negro education, but the harvest is still commendable. Twelve students take higher degrees in arts; three hundred and eighty-four Bachelors in Arts and Science have been graduated; four hundred and seventy-five have been graduated in the learned professions, and partial reports give nearly two thousand graduates from the high schools.

DEGREES OF DISTINCTION.

TWELVE colored students have received higher degrees during the present commencement season. F. H. Hough, of Ohio, a Bachelor of Arts of Ohio State University, received the Degree of Doctor in Pedagogy from New York University. His dissertation was on "Racial Pedagogy in the Light of Racial Psychology." Mr. Hough has done post-graduate work at Clark and Columbia, and is, at present, a teacher of English in Public School 147, New York City.

Ten students received the Degree of Master of Arts: Howard W. Brown, at Harvard, for work in English; Nellie M. Quander and Frank N. Fitzpatrick at Columbia, and Arthur A. Madison, at Teachers' College at Columbia; Eva B. Dykes, at Radcliffe, for work in English. She will continue her work in the Graduate Department on a scholarship. At the University of Chicago, Joseph C. Carroll and Robert W. Brooks received the M. A. Degree. At Northwestern University, Robert N. Brooks received this degree, G. V. Cools at the State University of Iowa, and Fitzpatrick Stewart at the University of Pittsburgh. At Boston University, W. A. Pollard received the Degree of Master of Laws.

THE NEW BACHELORS.

National Association for the Advancement of Colored People

PARTIAL RESULTS OF THE MOORFIELD STOREY DRIVE.

THE extended period for the Moorfield Storey Drive for 50,000 members ended on May 31. Most of the branches are busy checking up the results from the different teams and individual workers, so that full results cannot be announced until next month.

It is seldom that a campaign has aroused so much interest as this Drive, and this is especially encouraging since it indicates a marked increase in interest upon the part of the colored people in the work that the Association is doing. In addition to this interest on the part of the branches already established at the beginning of the Drive, the desire of other cities to be identified with the work of the Association has resulted in the establishment of 18 new branches with a total membership of 1593. The new branches that have been established with the number of charter members are as follows:

Fayetteville, N. C.	25
Fort Worth, Tex.	117
Isthmian (Canal Zone, Panama) ..	27
Lynchburg, Va.	49
Roanoke, Va.	52
San Antonio, Tex.	400

Charlottesville, Va.	33
Cheyney, Pa.	79
Vallejo, Cal.	71
Asheville, N. C.	48
Salt Lake City, Utah.	37
.....	1593

A partial report of the branches which participated in the Drive, giving the number of new members since February 28th to June 1st is given below:

Since February 28, 16,010 new members have been added, which with the 9869 members on February 28, and the 1593 members in the newly established branches gives a total membership to date of 27,472. This is far from being the complete total, since a large number of the branches have not as yet made any report, and many of the branches have made only a partial report.

Below is given a list of branches with the membership on February 28 and the Drive Quota, and the number of members added from February 28 to June 1:

A MILITARY ANTI-LYNCHING MEASURE.

REPRESENTATIVES of the Military Intelligence Bureau proposed the following measure as a substitute for the Dyer bill mentioned in the June issue of the CRISIS at a special hearing before the Judiciary committee of the House on June 6.

A BILL.

To punish the crime of lynching in so far as such crimes tend to prevent the success of the United States in war.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

That, whenever the United States is at war, whoever shall participate in any mob or riotous assemblage whereby death or mortal injury is intentionally caused to any man or woman employed in the service of the United States, or to any man liable to service in the military forces of the United States under the act approved May 18, 1918, entitled "An Act to Authorize the President to Increase Temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States" or under any present or future statute of the United States or to any person held under arrest by or as a prisoner of or in internment by the United States, or to the wife, husband, brother, sister, father, mother, son, daughter, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece, or first cousin, whether of the whole blood or half blood, of a person in the military or naval forces of the United States or liable to service therein, as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a capital offense against the United States, and shall, upon conviction, be punished in accordance with the punishment prescribed for the crime of murder under the United States Criminal Code.

LIBERTY AND DEMOCRACY

BUT, some people are saying, why should the National Association undertake a drive for membership at this time when the government is floating liberty bonds, when the Red Cross and the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations are doing such invaluable war service, when the government makes so many calls upon the people of the country?

Our answer is that this is a war for Liberty and for Democracy, and that the National Association since its inception has stood pre-eminently for these two things. In our first statement on Lincoln's Birthday, 1909, we said: "We call upon those who believe in democracy to join a national movement for the discussion of present evils. the voicing of protests, and the renewal of the struggle for civil and political liberty." To-day the world is astir with the gospel of the right of every man, no matter how poor he may be or what his race or color, to determine his own destiny, to have a part in the government under which he lives. The United States is the leader in such democratic thought, and the colored men and white men who believe in justice can show no finer patriotism than, while defending democracy abroad, working wholeheartedly for democracy at home. At our many meetings held during these two weeks of our drive colored men have again and again agreed that a membership in the National Association means membership in the world cause of liberty.

LITERATURE.

HARRIET MONROE in Poetry:

THE ROSE-BUSH

"Old Mammy Jones, I came to see your rose-bush."

"Come right up, sonny!"

"Why does your rose-bush grow so taller and prouder

Than any white people's roses?"

"Dunno, sonny—ask de good Lo'd."

"Look, it has a thousand arms,
And they carry a million roses
In their baskets of leaves—
Over your roof, Mammy Jones,
Into your porch, into your wood-shed,
Pushing and crowding out everything
From the ground to the sky—
As round as the world!"

"It's to trim my ole cabin up, sonny."

"My mother has a garden, Mammy Jones,

With nice little rose-bushes in it

That the gardener trimmed,

And this morning there were pink and yellow buds

And lots of green ones.

But not roses and roses like yours,

Way up for God to smell 'em

In the sky!

Why is it, Mammy Jones?"

"Donno, sonny—p'raps de good Lo'd like Mammy Jones;

P'raps he give a bouquet to his gal."

THE QUESTION

They were sauntering down the red road

As I passed them—

The round-lipped black woman and her child.

And the child was saying:

"Why's white folks better'n us, Mammy?

What's white folks, anyhow?"

President King of Oberlin recently said: Any race that fearlessly and unselfishly gives her best men for the cause of a country like the Negro has, has the right to expect to live in that country and enjoy the right of liberty, life, happiness and protection.

Attention is called to the Children's Year Leaflet, Number 1, issued by the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor. It begins with the words, "The second year of the war ought to be marked by determined nation-wide effort on behalf of childhood." It is pointed out in an accompanying letter that for every one hundred births, ninety-nine white children and one hundred and eighty-one colored children die before they reach the age of one year. These figures are, of course, based on a very small registration of Negro births, and are, perhaps, therefore, exaggerated; nevertheless the need of colored people to co-operate in the "Save One Hundred Thousand Babies" movement is imperative.

"K. C. B." in the New York American, replies to the general manager of the Pullman Company, who defends the tipping system for porters:

My dear Mr. Hungerford. I read it. On a railroad train. A week or two ago. And afterward. I sat with the porter. For an hour. And talked with him. And he has a home. And a wife. And four children. And two of his boys. Are in France. And on his coat. He wears a button. With two stars. And every week. He makes a payment. On His Liberty Bonds. And I don't know. But I have an idea. That in one of the windows. Of his home. There's a Red Cross card. And I was going to ask him. About tipping. But I didn't do it. And the next day. When I left the train. I felt impelled. To take his hand. And wish him luck. And express the hope. That all would go well. With his two soldier boys. But Mr. Hungerford. Instead of that. I gave him alms. And I want you to know. What I gave. For the reason I gave. Is because I know. That if I don't give. And others don't give. That he can't live. And those boys in France. Would never have been. And if it should be. That the time will come. When man's welfare. Will take the place. Of the dividend. It's more than likely. You'll come to see. Just what I mean. And until then. We'll give our alms. So that dividend checks. May be fat and full. And the porter man. May continue to live. I thank you.

Three colored authors are having their works issued by the Cornhill Company, Boston. We have reviewed Mr. Johnson's "Fifty Years and Other Poems," and are glad to note that it is receiving widespread attention elsewhere; Maud Cuney Hare's "The Message of the Trees" is still in the press; Georgia Douglas Johnson's "The Heart of a Woman and Other Poems" has just appeared in a tasteful and well printed volume, 62 plus XII pages. We can best review it by quoting a bit of Mr. Braithwaite's sympathetic introduction:

Here, then, is lifted the veil, in these poignant songs and lyrics. To look upon what is revealed is to give one a sense of infinite sympathy; to make one kneel in spirit to the marvelous patience, the wonderful endurance, the persistent faith, which are hidden in this nature.

The heart of a woman falls back with the night,
And enters some alien cage in its plight,
And tries to forget it has dreamed of the stars

While it breaks, breaks, breaks on the sheltering bars.

sings the poet. And

The songs of the singer

Are tones that repeat

The cry of the heart

Till it ceases to beat.

This verse just quoted is from "The Dreams of the Dreamer," and with the previous quotation tells us that this woman's heart is keyed in the plaintive, knows the sorrowful agents of life and experience which knock and enter at the door of dreams. But women have made the saddest songs of the world, Sappho no less than Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Ruth, the Moabitess poetess, gleaning in the field of Boaz, no less than Amy Levy, the Jewess who broke her heart against the London pavements; and no less does sadness echo its tender and appealing sigh in these songs and lyrics of Georgia Douglas Johnson.

THE CRISIS, these days, comes in for much comment. John D. Barry writes in the San Francisco, Cal., Bulletin:

Do you ever read THE CRISIS? If you don't you miss something. It is one of the most interesting magazines in the world. It gives news and it discusses subjects seldom or never mentioned in most publications. . . .

The number I have been reading, dated March, places at the head of the editorial department this significant quotation from Moorfield Storey: "No man who looks down on his fellow man is fit to govern him."

The statement is obviously true. It applies to a good many people who consider themselves democrats.

Those editorials, by the way, are written with great vigor, evidently by the editor.

He does not hesitate to say plainly what he thinks. No one can accuse him of lacking spirit.

The New York Evening Post has this bit about Dumas:

There are still alive many men who knew Dumas père. R. S. Garnett's translation of one of Dumas's romances, the long one concerning Naples which he published in 1864 under the title of "La San Felice," has recalled to some Englishman the fact that he saw Dumas in the year the work was being published in La Presse. He was traveling from Naples to Marseilles, and he saw a strange group:

I remember going on deck and hearing bursts of laughter from a group of travelers partly sitting, partly standing, partly sprawling. In the centre was a kind of Colossus—a man clad in an ample suit of white canvas, bareheaded, and with an air of jovial expansiveness which not only illuminated his broad, smiling, bronzed face, but imparted itself, as it seemed to me, to all his companions. Their very attitudes suggested perfect enjoyment of what he was relating. Again and again came peals of laughter.

I stopped a Neapolitan steward who was passing. "Who is that?" I asked.

"Alessandro Dumas," he proudly said.

"Dumas? The author of 'Monte Cristo'?"

"And of 'La San Felice.'" And he showed me the title in large letters in a newspaper he held in his hand.

Then, going up to the Colossus, he handed him the paper, bowing low.

Dumas glanced at it, and his expression changed. He began reading from it aloud. In a few minutes I saw more than one of his listeners brush the tears from their eyes. Presently Dumas threw down the paper, and in passing he almost cannoned against me.

Dr. George E. Haynes, of the United States Department of Labor, has published some interesting articles on Negro migration in The Survey. They are strikingly illustrated.

APPLAUSE.

WELL merited and generous applause has greeted the brave deeds of colored soldiers recently reported from France.

The Boston, Mass., Post says: "No color line there."

In the service of democracy there is no such distinction. General Pershing's late report places on the roll of honor the names of two soldiers of one of our colored regiments, Privates Johnson and Roberts, who while on sentry duty were attacked by a German raiding party of 20 men. They made it a hand-to-hand fight, with rifle, bayonet and knife, and won out of it although not unscathed. . . .

This is the true American ideal of service. No matter what the color of the skin, we all recognize it.

The Chronicle's Telegram, Pittsburgh, Pa., says:

"The colored troops fought nobly." That was more than half a century ago. They "fought nobly" on the plains, in the islands of the Pacific and the Atlantic, wherever they have been called upon to fight. . . . And now in France they are living up to the reputation they have won on other, far distant fields. We have been told of the particularly valorous acts of two of them, Henry Johnson of Albany and Needham Roberts of Trenton, N. J. They have been enrolled among the heroes of the world and have been cited for the Croix de Guerre before the French army. Of them the French general, a soldier not accustomed to heroic and skilful military deeds, wrote to his superior: "The American report is too modest. As a result of oral information furnished to me it appears that the blacks were extremely brave, and this little combat does honor to the Americans."

The Buffalo Evening News says:

The Negroes of America have right and reason to feel proud of the achievements of Private Henry Johnson and Private Needham Roberts, "over there." . . .

Following this comes the Northcliffe international prize of $125 to Charles Knight, a Negro, for the riveting record on ship-building.

Each in his own way contributes to the cause of democracy. Each performed his particular task better than his fellows. Each acquitted himself as best sustains the traditions of America.

The foundation of patriotism, builded by their fathers at Fort Pillow, Cold Harbor and Petersburg, underlies a structure of achievement that constantly grows more imposing.

The Negroes of America have kept the faith and bared the strong arm in defense of the liberty they have themselves known but a short half century.

The Brooklyn, N. Y., Times says:

The performances on the fire-swept slope of San Juan, when the Twenty-fourth Infantry, steady and strong, helped the Regulars to save the day and win the all-important crest, gave it a new meaning. When, in Mexico more recently, a handful of Negro cavalry died under our flag in an ambush fight, we recognized again the fine soldierly qualities in trained Americans of the dark skin. Col. Hayward, when he organized the old Fifteenth Regiment of the Guard, understood what he was doing. "I am very proud of them," he says now, with reason for his pride, "for they are clean, brave men, fearing nothing."

The Boston Evening Transcript says:

This regiment, now the 315th, was the first entire regiment of New York troops to take its place in holding a portion of the front line of trenches in France. It has acquitted itself no less bravely than has the "old 69th New York" in the Rainbow Division, or the "old Massachusetts Ninth" in the Yankee Division, or the "Dandy Fifth" and the "Old Lancers" and "Roxbury Horse Guards" of the same organization, or the "Sarsfield Guards" and the "German Blues" who were embodied in the 102d Regiment, composed of Connecticut men, some of whom were Yale collegians but more of whom were sturdy foundrymen from the Bridgeport factories.

The diverse make-up, racially, of the American organizations which have so far distinguished themselves on the fighting front disappears utterly in one firm blend of heroic American citizenship.

Let us borrow the words of Parson Stoughton in 1666, and say that God has sifted many more than three kingdoms to find the wheat for this glorious planting of liberty.

Even the New York Times, which was so bitterly opposed to a black regiment in New York State, has this comment:

If any regiment in Cuba, white or black, made a better record than the Twenty-fourth, for bravery, for humanity, for discipline and duty, will some one speak up? But it is an old story the gallantry and stanchness of our Negro soldiers when the country calls in the hour of her need. New York may well be proud of the 369th Infantry, which was the old 15th.

The New York Tribune says:

There could not be more loyal Americans or better two-fisted fighters than our Negro soldiers. We are proud as proud of them, and we salute them all in the persons of Privates Johnson and Roberts, cited for the Croix de Guerre before the army of France.

The New York Evening World adds:

Courage and self-sacrifice of the highest order were shown by these two American Negroes.

Every colored man and woman in the United States can be proud of what two colored fighters have done in the service of the country which has given them much but which still owes their race surer guarantees of justice.

There is just one way the American people as a whole could recognize the valor of Privates Johnson and Roberts, colored, in a manner worthy of the nation:

To resolve that so long as Negro fighters face the enemy and thereafter so long as the Republic they have helped to defend endures, throughout the length and breadth of the United States, law, public condemnation and swift punishment for the guilty shall combine to make the lynching of a Negro an abhorred and obsolete crime.

It is perhaps natural that after this a letter in the New York Evening Post should demand an additional chance for Negroes to serve the country.

SIR: As there is so great a dearth of nurses that the Red Cross has to institute a drive to increase the number of them, can you explain why that organization has persistently refused to accept the services of a qualified group numbering 3,000 registered nurses?

These are young colored graduates of Lincoln Hospital, who are eager for overseas service. If we have colored troops among our forces, why not have colored nurses back of the firing line?

SOUTHERN PRAISE.

THE leaven of the War for Democracy is spreading in the South. The Chattanooga, Tenn., Times writes:

The Negro citizen is making golden opinions for himself among all classes of people because of his unqualified exhibition of genuine patriotism and devotion to the country in the time of its emergency. Everywhere he is responding promptly and with enthusiasm to the call for enlistment in the various branches of the military service, and he is making good in nearly every training camp he has entered. The women are taking his place in the workshops and fields wherever his going has left a serious vacancy. Negroes are buying bonds and thrift stamps according to their abilities and in various ways they are showing their willingness to do their part. This refers, of course, to that part of the race which constitutes the overwhelming majority, who are capable, industrious and physically fit.

It will be everlastingly to the credit of the Negroes of the South that they never once permitted themselves to be led off by the most insidious propaganda German sympathizers and agents have attempted in this country. Instead of listening to the seductive appeals of these intriguers and conspirators, the Negro by reporting to the authorities, made that sort of thing so dangerous that it was not continued long, but was abandoned early.

The Savannah (Ga.) Morning News reports that "from every section of the state come reports that Negroes are meeting the demands of war with a spirit and devotion that prove them worthy American citizens. . . . This is no more than Georgia expects of her Negro population. Just as with the white citizens, the Negroes have their work cut out for them and they have gone about it in a business-like and patriotic manner."

The same may be said of the Negroes of this state. Let us demand, then, that the spirit of intolerance and race hatred that shows itself in lynchings and the burning of Negroes shall be stopped, the Negro himself having earned such consideration, whatever may be said of our obligations to law and humanity.

The State Journal of Raleigh, N. C., writes:

Troop trains that weekly go through Raleigh carrying help to our allies, have been accustomed along the route to drop the heroic boys down in the cities where the populace could briefly see them and cheer them as they leave their country.

Nobody, save the soldier, can tell how much this means to the men who bear arms for us in another world. They stop and gather loving symbols from a people aroused to highest enthusiasm, and parading the streets the boys in uniform make those of us who imagine a sacrifice, feel a lasting shame while sitting back enumerating items of expense and counting the cost in comforts.

But there is one black hero who goes through every time two whites do and we hear nothing of him. That is the chocolate soldier who sits wedged into a stuffy day coach and waits until snail-like trains back him from the station to put out on the main line. Nearly all of these black boys have been drafted and put into uniform to fight across a trackless waste of water for an abstraction which is well-nigh stranger to them at home. A few colored friends may know of their coming and there is a short good-bye at the stations. But the great heart of a municipality is lost to them and they must go to war without any of the cheers that so freely and lovingly are given to the white men with whom they eventually will fight.

It isn't right and it should be ended this day.

The colored troops should be allowed to get off the cars, march through the city and receive the plaudits of all the people for whom they fight. If there be white people who feel as the fool Beard of Abbeville felt before he got into the Federal penitentiary for his feeling; if there be whites who withhold their own enthusiasm lest it spoil a "damninger," then let the colored soldier have the public streets for a moment while his own cheer him as he puts out to war. There are black people who have souls and sentiment and whose hearts thrill and ache for their own. Let these black people see their boys and give them mementoes of the land to which thousands of them will not return.

The white people owe it to themselves to give all the comfort and cheer that they can. No race can be happy long surrounded by those whose happiness has been destroyed either by indifference or by wilfulness. Much has been written of the "problem of the Negro soldier." We are always making a "problem" out of a simple justice to the colored man who has risen in earnest striving by the might of his merits. The "problem" now before the Negro soldier is helping us to kill Huns. Let us make the job easier for him by giving him a little heart for his work.

The World News, of Roanoke, Va., says:

The same newspapers that bring news of this fine heroism that wins honor for our whole country tell of the lynching in Georgia of three members of this same race, one of them a woman, suspected of murder. Of course there was no excuse for this, as the courts are in full power and operation in Georgia. Equally, of course, nobody will be punished. We predict that one of the results of the war will be that the Negro troops will acquit themselves so well that the United States Congress will interfere in this lynching business, of which Negroes usually are the victims. Evidently in this regard there is no use clinging to the doctrine of States' rights and trusting weak and cowardly local authorities and sympathetic juries to punish mob murders. We have been trying it now fifty years and after hundreds of such murders there is hardly a record of a conviction. The States have failed to maintain within their own borders decent respect for the lives of citizens and residents of the United States. The war will hasten the time when members of murdering mobs will face the Federal Courts and serious punishment, even if an amendment to the Constitution is required to bring that result. The country is sick and tired of having to bear as a whole the shame of the lawlessness of bloodthirsty rowdies and the miserable trucking to it of small and cheap county and town politicians who value their little jobs more than the honor of their States and country and their allegiance to their own oaths of office and duties.

of Senegal and Chief of a Commission to French West Africa, an honor which, we fully believe, you have very well earned.

One of the blessings which we believe will come to the world through this Great War will be a just estimate and due recognition of the worth and merit of all, irrespective of race or colour.

That you, a Negro of the Wolof tribe, should lead the van in this respect, is to us a matter for great thankfulness to God, and affords us much impetus in our efforts to do our best in whatever sphere we may be, fully believing that as the day has come for such recognition from the French Republic, it will also come from the British Empire, to which we are glad and proud to belong. ¶ The United States Government is sending three thousand or more Negro soldiers for special technical training in electricity, telegraphy and various mechanical arts to a number of colored institutions, including Howard, Hampton, Tuskegee, Florida A. & M. WHY NEW YORK REAL ESTATE GROWS IN VALUE

When it is realized that the permanent increase in population of New York in one year was 400,000 equaling the population of Cleveland, Ohio, some idea of the tremendous growth of the city is appreciated.—National Magazine.

PUT YOUR DOLLARS IN IMPROVED NEW YORK CITY REAL ESTATE

You have heard of the Payton Apartments, Nos. 117-127-135 West 141st Street, and Nos. 130-140-148 West 142nd Street, New York City, the finest owned and controlled by colored people in the world, set aside for the tenantry of colored families.

A proper idea of the magnitude of this proposition can be had only by taking into consideration that these houses cover a tract of over two and one-half acres, or thirty-three full city lots. These six large, modern, de luxe elevator apartment houses contain 306 apartments, 1466 rooms, and will house more than 1500 people. They were constructed at a cost of one and a half million dollars.

The Payton Apartments Corporation, incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, with a capitalization of $250,000.00, was organized to take title to these valuable properties.

The Directorate of the Corporation is made up of the following well known men:

E. C. Brown, President, is a Banker and Real Estate Operator of Philadelphia, Pa.

Andrew F. Stevens, Vice President, is a Banker and President of the Home Extension Insurance Association of Philadelphia.

Emmett J. Scott, Secretary and Treasurer, is Secretary of Tuskegee, Alabama. He is also one of the Assistant Departmental Heads at Washington.

W. H. C. Brown, Director, is an Investment Banker, Washington, D. C.

Heman E. Perry, Director, is President of the Standard Life Insurance Co., Atlanta, Ga.

We have published a little booklet, illustrated, telling all about this remarkable proposition. It tells how for as small a sum as five dollars a month for a few months you can become a part owner in the largest real estate proposition in the world undertaken by Negroes.

Send for Booklet today. It is free for the asking.

Records of Negro Artists

No institution and no agency has done as much to bring into popular knowledge the best in the world's store of music and song as the phonograph. Whether for recreation or for instruction, this remarkable device has made a place for itself in the homes of the world. Probably you have wanted to bring to your home and to your family and to your friends the voice of the individual Negro singer or the playing of the individual Negro performer who would take high rank among the invisible makers of music and singers of song whom the phonograph has brought to cheer your spare moments after the grind of the day's work is done.

Roland W. Hayes, the acknowledged leading singer of the Negro race, is bringing out a series of such records of Negro Artists and the following numbers are now ready:

"Swing Low Sweet Chariot" (arranged by Harry Burleigh).

"Vesti la Guibba (Put on Your Smock)" from Pagliacci, with orchestral accompaniment.

"Twilight," by Katherine A. Glen, with pianoforte accompaniment.

"A Spirit Flower," by Campbell-Tipton, with pianoforte accompaniment.

These records sell for $1.50 each and can be used on any machine using disc records.

The Stylographic Pen holds sufficient ink to write 10,000 words. Any one who uses a lead pencil can write with a Stylographic Pen, as it has no pen point to get out of commission. Mothers and sweethearts who have loved ones at the front will find it more profitable to send the boy a Stylographic Pen so his letters will be delivered promptly and not delayed because of invisible writing with an ordinary lead pencil. Thousands of these pens are now being used in banks, schools and other institutions as well as in the trenches. Act now, do not delay in sending in your order, as the scarcity of rubber and metal may cause another increase in price of these pens. All pens fully guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction. A.
